

PLUCKY WOMAN CAUGHT A THIEF.

MISS DELCIE WALKER.

Little Miss Walker Found a Burglar and Held Him for the Police.

Nobody could possibly look any less like a thief-taker than little Miss Delcie V. Walker, who lives at 281 West Seventeenth street.

Yet Miss Walker believes and the police believe and everybody in the neighborhood believes that a full-intending burglar was caught the next way to red-handed by this small, bright-eyed lady just because of the fact that she stopped to call on a neighbor before going to business.

The captured burglar was in court this morning, very sullen and crestfallen. Miss Walker was there in a very different frame of mind. But before she went to court she was met by an Evening World reporter, to whom she told very naively the story of her adventure.

Miss Walker is a young woman of twenty-three years. She appears slender, yet confesses to 132 pounds weight. Probably the burglar will explain that much of that avoirdupois is made up of pure grit. The reporter knows a good deal of it is muscle, for in telling her story Miss Walker collapsed him to show how she collapsed the thief.

Her Eyes Can Flash.
As for the young woman's eyes, they are light brown and can flash fire. As for her hair, it also is brown. As for her dress, she wore today a tailor-made jacket and skirt of mixed gray and brown and a shirt waist in the latest shade of green.

Miss Walker lives with her aunt on the top floor of the address given above in a cosily furnished flat. She has a manure business at 9 East Forty-second street. And her story is this, in her own telling:

"Why, really am I a heroine? I didn't know. Truly, it didn't amount to anything. You see, I'm in the habit of going to business at about 11 o'clock. But yesterday I was a little late, and as I went out I saw a man peering near the neighbor who lives on the floor below."

"Says he fired COFFIN SHOP."

Vroie, Held For Arson, Accused by Seven-Year-Old Boy.

Assistant Fire Marshal De Mallen preferred a charge of arson against John Vroie, a carpenter of 272 Stanton street, in the Essex Market Court today. It is alleged that on Nov. 14 last he fired the three-story buildings at 84 and 86 Willett street, owned by Israel Goldsmith, a coffin manufacturer.

Vroie worked for Goldsmith, and the latter declares that during a quarrel with Vroie he threatened to burn the buildings.

Seven-year-old Louis Feldman, who lives in the house, says that about 5 P. M. on Nov. 14 last he saw the defendant through the basement window pour oil into a coffin filled with paper and then set fire to it. The youth claimed that he gave the alarm and that Vroie ran away.

Vroie is badly burned about the head and face. He denied that he set the place on fire. He was held in default of bail.

WOMAN FOUND IN STREET.
Child Says Father Threw Mother Out of the Window.

The police found Mrs. Annie Reardon lying in front of her residence, 629 West Fifty-second street, shortly after midnight, with a fractured skull. A citizen noticed the woman on the sidewalk and notified Policeman Lawrence, of the West Forty-seventh Street Station. The surgeon said the woman had either fallen or been thrown from a window.

The Reardons live on the fourth floor with their ten-year-old daughter Annie and their eight-year-old son Patrick. "Papa threw mamma out of the window," declared the little girl in the police station.

"When I came out I heard a noise on my floor and knew there must be something wrong. I have no servant—that is, my servant is ill, and my aunt is away, so I have to leave the flat alone. I looked up and saw a burly young man peering down at me over the balustrade. 'What are you doing up there?' I asked. 'Nothing,' said he, and started to go down. I started up and met him half way. Blocking his way, I said: 'Now, sir, I want to know what you are doing around my flat. I'm not going to be robbed twice in the same year.' 'You see, Mr. Reporter, last May, when I came home from business one day I met three young men on my stairs, and when I got up in my flat I found they had been there and robbed me, taking a necklace of pearls, a pocketbook with some money and a few other things. I don't know, but I think this young man was one of those three.'

A Deaf and Dumb Scout.
"This fellow yesterday sent a deaf and dumb man up ahead of him to see the lay of things. The mute had a paper on which was written: 'Please help me. I am starving.' I gave him a few cents, but of course he could see I was dressed ready to go out at once and leave the flat alone. If I hadn't made that call I would surely have been robbed."

"I ain't done nothing," the thief on the stairs went on. "I'm a poor old mother and two little sisters to take care of. Please let me go. If you are innocent, there is a woman in New York who would let you go quicker than I, and if you need help no woman would sooner give it than I. But you can't tell what you were doing up here and you must wait and see a policeman."

"By the time all the neighborhood had gathered around, I sent down for the janitor and he got a policeman, and the policeman took the fellow away and I've got to go to court and that's all there is about it."

Miss Walker's prisoner gave the name of Samuel Scheyer, and said his address was 47 East Seventy-eighth street, in the West Side City Park. He was remanded till this morning. When his case was called to-day a father and brother were present to defend him. A former employer was also in court to bring unfavorable testimony. In the lack of direct evidence of guilty intent, the magistrate felt impelled to let the youth go with a lecture, in which he cautioned Samuel that he was "peering near the edge of a lot of trouble."

WIFE FOUND SUICIDE.
Mrs. Glorisch Discovered Her Husband Dead in a Noose.

George, Glorisch, 40 years old, a cooper, committed suicide to-day by hanging himself in the collar of his home, at Palmetto street, Brooklyn.

He was found hanging there by his wife, who had missed him when the alarm clock rang. Glorisch had been out of work for some time, and this is given as the cause for taking his life.

No External Symptoms.
The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it.

The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.

"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement."

"We regard it a cat tonic and blood purifier."—J. F. DUFF, Princeton, Mo.

SSS is the greatest of all tonics, and you will find the appetite improves at once, the strength returns, and nervousness vanishes as new, rich, pure blood once more circulates through all parts of the system.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. It contains no minerals whatever. Send for our free book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians for any information or advice wanted. No charge for medical advice.

How Mother's may Help their Daughters into Womanhood

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.

Miss Good Asks Mrs. Pinkham for Help.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have been very much bothered for some time with my monthly periods being irregular. I will tell you all about it, and put myself in your care, for I have heard so much of you. Each month menstruation would become less and less, until it entirely stopped for six months, and now it has stopped again. I have become very nervous and of a very bad color. I am a young girl and have always had to work very hard. I would be very much pleased if you would tell me what to do."—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yesler Way, Seattle, Wash.

The Happy Result.

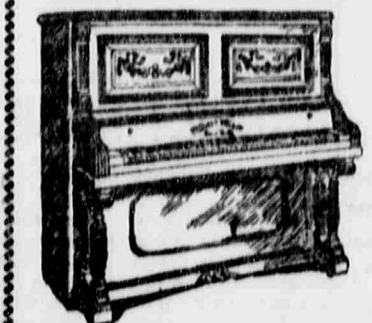

February, 10th, 1900.
"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is just simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. I feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure to me, while before using your medicine it was a burden. To-day I am a healthy and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world. I cannot express the relief I have experienced by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yesler Way, Seattle, Wash.
